MEDIA ADVISORY: MAYOR CAROLINE SIMMONS AND DIRECTOR OF HEALTH
JODY BISHOP-PULLAN ANNOUNCE NEW VIDEO FOR THE YOUTH MENTAL HEALTH ALLIANCE

What: On Thursday, November 3, at 1:00 pm, Mayor Simmons will be joined by Director of Health Jody Bishop-Pullan, Vin Tufo from the Vita Health and Wellness Partnership, and members of the Stamford Youth Mental Health Alliance (YMHA) to roll out a new video highlighting the vision and mission of the Alliance. The Mayor will also be highlighting the City of Stamford's new Mental Health Resources brochure, which is available to residents and available in English, Spanish, and Haitian Creole.

The Youth Mental Health Alliance is a coalition of organizations engaged in a data-driven, collaborative process, using evidenced based interventions where appropriate, to address the mental health issues facing our youth, which is an increasingly urgent public health issue in Stamford and across the country.

Who:

- Mayor Caroline Simmons
- Jody Bishop-Pullan, City of Stamford Director of Health
- Vin Tufo, Vita Health and Wellness Partnership

When: Thursday, November 3, at 1:00 pm

Where: Lobby of the Stamford Government Center (888 Washington Boulevard)
